PREFACE

The amount of capital required to fund Alberta's agriculture industry is increasing rapidly. This expanded need is a result of several factors including:

1. Increased mechanization of production processes.
2. Intensification of agricultural production through the application of new and improved technology.
3. Specialization of production on farms.
4. Expansion of the size of farms so as to take advantage of economies of scale and increases in incomes.
5. Inter-generation transfers of farm assets.

This rapid increase in capital requirements of farm businesses has caused lending institutions to modify their lending policies to meet the requirements of the agricultural producer. With the recent volatility of interest rates and present depressed commodity prices, it is essential for producers to make the most effective use of borrowed funds. As the amount of borrowed funds increases, the greater the need is for the farmer to plan his business, project cash flows, and monitor the progress of the business toward achievement of planned goals.

Institutions that lend funds to farm businesses recognize this need to plan and are requesting more factual information from farm managers. When approaching a lending institution for funds, the farm manager can hasten processing of his loan by presenting a net worth statement, a current income statement and a projected budget and cash flow statement. These statements readily provide the lender with some idea of the farmer's available security and his earning and repayment capacity.

Requests have been received for information on agencies and individuals able to provide assistance to farmers who want to analyze and evaluate the benefits of change in their production plans and in the financial structure of their business. In response to this request, a listing of the agencies providing credit management services is provided at the back of the publication.

This publication also provides a listing of sources of credit available to Alberta farmers plus a brief description of each source. The purpose of the publication is to provide information to enable you to obtain an overview of Alberta credit sources. It is not intended that you rely upon this material for any other purposes. Every effort has been made to ensure accuracy as of June, 1984. Because of rapid changes taking place with respect to new programs, eligibility criteria and interest rates, interested individuals should contact the agencies involved to further investigate each credit source and obtain current, detailed information.

This publication is updated on a regular basis, and any ideas with respect to its content will be gratefully received.

Material for this revised publication was assembled by Alan Shideler and Doug Barlund, under the direction of Harry Warne, Supervisor Financial Management Section, Farm Business Management Branch, Alberta Agriculture.

RULES FOR THE SOUND USE OF CREDIT

The amount of investment in land, buildings, equipment, livestock and operating capital required for the profitable operation of a modern farm business has become substantial and it has thus become virtually impossible for most farmers to accumulate sufficient savings to purchase the assets required. Consequently, borrowing money has become a necessary means of acquiring farm capital.

Rules for the sound use of credit can be categorized under the three R's of credit--risk, returns, and repayment.

1. RISK

Limit borrowing for enterprises that you do not fully understand. Experiment on a small scale before expanding through the use of borrowed funds.

Keep debts in line with your capital investment. Check the relationship of total assets to total liabilities and watch the distribution of current or short-term assets and liabilities in order to maintain a strong liquid position.

Maintain adequate insurance coverage to reduce risk and protect the farm business.

Keep debts as low as possible without reducing your efficiency. To reduce risks use loans for purposes that will bring the largest return per dollar invested in the shortest time.

2. RETURNS

Borrow primarily for purposes that will increase net income.

Study farm price trends. Estimate your ability to repay loans on a realistic and conservative basis over the term of the loan.

Keep debts in line with probable income. If possible, maintain reserve repayment capacity to meet emergencies. Income received from productive assets purchased by a loan should be applied on a regular basis against the loan.

Maintain good records so that you have the factual information needed for making sound management decisions, and for monitoring changes in your financial position.

When borrowing for depreciable assets, schedule the repayment term of the loan to coincide with the expected life of the asset.

3. REPAYMENT

Develop a definite repayment program that fits your cash flow.

Don't use too many credit sources. As your record of repayment grows, the more willing these lenders will be to service your credit needs.

Evaluate your total credit requirements; avoid borrowing on a "piecemeal" basis and plan to arrange financing before you actually need the funds.

DEALING WITH YOUR CREDITORS

Arranging credit is not a great deal different from arranging any other type of service. You want to get the most suitable, reasonable deal available.

Some points to consider when arranging credit are:

Shop around for credit. Select a dependable lender who is willing and able to provide good terms and sound financial advice.

Be businesslike, frank, and fair with the lender. Meet loan payments promptly. Whenever you are unable to do so, discuss your situation as far in advance of the due date as possible. Explain what you are able to do and outline how you plan to bring your account up to date.

Prepare the necessary background information to support your loan application such as net worth statement, past and projected income statements and cash-flow budget. Most lending institutions offer information and assistance in preparing these types of documents.

Before making any changes to your farm business, whether it is developing a new enterprise or expanding an existing one, you must ask yourself, "Will it pay?" By completing a thorough analysis of the change (including partial budget and cash flow), you will know in your own mind if the change is worth it, before approaching your lender.

1. ALBERTA AGRICULTURAL DEVELOPMENT CORPORATION

A. DIRECT FARM LOAN PROGRAMS

1. Beginning Farmer Program To assist individuals in establishing farms on an owned land base. This financing may be used for land; permanent improvements (including houses and mobile homes); breeding livestock; equipment; machinery; financial restructuring and/or debt consolidation (cannot encompass 100 percent of loan purpose); purchasing shares in a farm company; making shareholders loans to a farm company. Refinancing operating capital is eligible only when repayment from other sources of financing is not possible.

NOTE: An individual who wishes to apply for a Beginning Farmer Loan is not required to approach other lenders before applying to the Agricultural Development Corporation.

Amount of Loan: Maximum loan is $200,000 per farm family or $600,000 per farm partnership or company.

Terms: Loans may be amortized for periods of up to 30 years. Amortization periods for purposes other than land purchases are usually shorter. Loans may be paid out at any time without notice, bonus or penalty.

Interest Rates: The preferred interest rate, currently 12%, is subject to periodic review. Loans will be made at the preferred farm lending rate for the first five year term of loan. At the end of this five year term, the loan will be reviewed to establish the interest rate for the next five year term. The loan, if renewed, will be at the preferred farm lending rate in effect at the time of renewal if the borrower:

a) is actively farming, using the assets mortgaged to ADC.
b) has not demonstrated gross financial or cultural mismanagement, in the opinion of ADC.
c) has not maintained a full-time off farm commitment, as defined by ADC.

If these conditions are not met, the interest rate at renewal will be ADC's base interest rate.

To be eligible to receive incentives during the first five year term of the loan, the borrower must:

a) continue farming, and cannot rent out the farm or have it custom-farmed.
b) comply with specific loan conditions which indicate that the incentive will be lost if the condition is not met.
c) not have demonstrated gross financial or cultural mismanagement in the opinion of ADC.
d) not have been subject to legal action initiated by ADC.

The incentive is calculated at six percent of the outstanding principal balance and is credited to the account on loan payment dates. For a Stage II loan, the incentive rate in effect at the time of the Stage II approval will apply.

STAGED OPTION

Applicants may choose to phase into the Beginning Farmer Loan Program in two stages. In the Staged Option, the total of the two loans may not exceed $200,000 or the amount the applicant is initially eligible to receive. The maximum amount is established at the time of Stage I approval, taking into account the total assets of the applicant and the loan limit in effect at the time.

To qualify for a Stage II loan, the Stage I loan must not exceed $160,000 and the Stage II application must meet normal security and repayment requirements.

Stage II funds are advanced at the preferred farm lending rate in effect at time of Stage II approval. Applications for Stage II loans must be received within four years of the Stage I loan approval date.

Under this option, the applicant must present the Corporation with a development plan describing the use of the two stages and how they will aid in the development of a viable farm unit.

Available to: An applicant who:

a) is acquiring or already owns land or is or will be leasing Crown land which will lead to title.
b) has not previously operated a viable farm with an owned land base.
c) is living in Alberta and has lived in Alberta for a continuous period of at least one year during the three years immediately preceding the date of application.
d) has proforma assets (defined as the assets owned after completion of loan program) of less than $350,000. The assets of both the applicant and spouse are included in this total. Net worth after loan program cannot exceed $175,000.
e) has an investment to a minimum level of 10% equity of the proforma assets. This equity must be in the form of cash or net worth in productive assets.
f) has not previously received a beginning farmer loan (except a Stage I loan)
g) can demonstrate that full-time farming as defined by ADC will be the occupation of the borrower within a reasonable period of time, usually a three year period. Working for another farmer is not considered as off-farm employment by ADC. A borrower's spouse may have full time off-farm employment.
h) has a minimum of two years of valid and verifiable practical farming experience or an equivalent. Experience must be obtained prior to application and must be relevant to the type of operation proposed.

Other conditions: A borrower will be required to:

a) supply all financial and production information to ADC, when requested, on an annual basis, in the Beginning Farmer Year End Package.
b) establish and maintain records in a method acceptable to ADC
c) maintain a commitment to full-time farming.

Apply to: Alberta Agricultural Development Corporation District Loans Office - Page 12.

2. Part A & B Loans
To assist primary producers in the development or maintenance of viable farms.

Purpose: Loans may be made for purchasing farmland; making permanent improvements (land improvements, constructing, altering, repairing or extending buildings or houses); purchasing mobile homes; financial restructuring; debt consolidation; purchasing shares in a farm company or making a shareholders loan to a farm company; and purchasing irrigation equipment.

Amount of Loan (A & B): Maximum loan is $200,000 per farm family or $600,000 per farm partnership or company.

Terms (A & B): Loans may be amortized for periods up to 30 years. Loans primarily for debt consolidation will be amortized over 20 years or less and will require at least semi-annual payments. Loans for irrigation equipment will be amortized over 15 years or less. A loan may be paid out at any time without notice, bonus or penalty.

Interest Rates:
Part A - The interest rate will be reduced by three percent from the preferred farm lending rate for the first five-year term. At the end of the first five-year term the loan will be renewed to establish the interest rate for the next five-year term.

Part B - The interest rate at the beginning of Part B loans will be at the preferred lending rate for the first five years, the loan will then be renewed to establish the interest rate for the next five years.

The (A & B) loans, if renewed, will be at the preferred farm lending rate in effect at the time of renewal, if the borrower:

a) is actively farming, using the assets mortgaged to ADC.
b) in the opinion of ADC, has not demonstrated gross financial or cultural mismanagement.
c) has not maintained a full-time off farm commitment as defined by ADC.

If these are not met, the interest rate at renewal will be ADC's base interest rate.

Available to:

Part A - an individual who:
(a) is acquiring or already owns land, or is or will be leasing Crown land which will lead to title.
(b) is living in Alberta and has lived in Alberta for a continuous period of at least one year during the three years immediately preceding the date of application.
(c) has proforma assets (defined as the assets owned after completion of loan program) of less than $450,000. The assets of both the applicant and spouse are included in the total. Net worth after loan program cannot exceed $225,000.
(d) makes a commitment to full-time farming as defined by ADC. Working for another farmer is not considered as off-farm employment by ADC. A borrower's spouse may have full-time off-farm employment.
(e) shows that alternate financing is not available or is not available at reasonable terms.

Part B - Is available to primary producers whose assets or net worth exceeds the part A limits. All other conditions are the same as outlined for Part A.

Apply to: Alberta Agricultural Development Corporation District Loans Office Page 12.

3. DISASTER ASSISTANCE LOAN PROGRAM

Purpose: The intent of this program is not to compensate for losses, but to assist primary producers who have suffered an agricultural disaster in maintaining or regaining reasonable viability. Where the loss of an asset is not covered by adequate insurance or other compensation, the Agricultural Development Corporation may provide assistance under this program.

An agricultural disaster is defined as, "an occurrence to a farm operation that is beyond the control of management and that jeopardizes the viability of the farming operation".

Loans may be used to:

- repair or replace buildings or other permanent improvements
- replacement of livestock
- Consolidate debts resulting from the financial loss associated with an agricultural disaster.
- provide interim financing until compensation for losses associated with an agricultural disaster are received from an insurance company, or a third party that may be legally responsible for a portion of the loss.

NOTE: A condition of the loan requires that any compensation received will be used to repay the loan.
- Any other purpose considered by A.D.C. to be directly related to an agricultural disaster.

Amount of Loan: Assistance offered through guaranteed loans will not be limited to any amount. Direct loans may be made to a maximum of $200,000. Loans already outstanding to ADC will not affect this loan limit.

Terms: Since assistance may take the form of a guarantee of borrowings from other financial institutions or direct loans under ADC's regular loan program, the Corporation will look at each case individually. Funding under this program will be over the length of time necessary to regain or maintain reasonable viability, not necessarily up to the maximum period available under other ADC programs.

A loan may be paid out at any time without notice, bonus or penalty.

Other Conditions: As a rule the program does not cover:
- losses due to market collapse
- losses which can be covered by crop insurance
- crop losses due to weather conditions
- financial distress resulting from the breakup of a partnership or marital union.
- losses for which farmers customarily purchase insurance.

Available to: Farmers who have suffered an agricultural disaster as described above. Applications are assessed on need and the Corporation acts as a lender as a last resort.

Apply to: Alberta Agricultural Development Corporation District Loans Office - Page 12.

IV CANADIAN WHEAT BOARD ADVANCE

Purpose: To provide cash to producers who are unable to deliver grain due to congestion in country elevators.

Amount of Advance: The producer's entitlement for an advance is determined by the quota acreage for wheat, oats and barley, as shown in his permit book and on the quantity of threshed grain in storage on the farm that is eligible for delivery to the Board.

The quota acres are multiplied by a prescribed quota factor and a value per tonne for each grain to determine the advance payment entitlement for the type of grain. Adding the entitlement for wheat, oats and barley provides the producer with his total advance payment entitlement. Any deliveries of wheat, oats or barley made prior to the date of the advance payment during that crop year, and any grain undelivered under quotas which have terminated, would reduce the entitlement accordingly.

The maximum advance entitlement for an individual producer is $ 15,000.00.

For a corporation, partnership, colony, cooperative, or business enterprise with three or more shareholders, partners or members, the maximum advance may be increased to $45,000. Applications from these producers must be verified by the Canadian Wheat Board before any funds are paid out.

Terms: The advance is interest free if repaid by delivery of wheat, oats and/or barley as when delivered quotas are authorized. If the advance is refunded by cash payments of more than $ 500, or through delivery of other crops such as rye, flax or rapeseed, interest is charged at the prescribed rate on the amount in excess of $ 500 from the date the advance payment is made to the date of the refund.

Available to: Holders of Canadian Wheat Board Permit Books.

Other Conditions: An administrative fee up to $ 5.00 may be charged and retained by the handling company.

Apply to: Your local elevator agent.

Arrangements for financing through a Farm Improvement Loan should be made prior to the purchase of an asset.

A Farm Improvement Loan cannot be used to refinance existing debts.

Amount of Loan: Maximum loan is $100,000. The whole loan may be used for one purpose, but the maximum loan as a percent of the cost of the asset varies. For example, the maximum loan is limited to 90% of the cost to construct and repair buildings, purchase additional land and cost of permanent farm improvements; and 75% of the purchase price of machinery and livestock.

Terms: Interest rate is the lender's prime lending rate plus 1%.
